International Risk Publisher Launches New Website

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

East Syracuse, New York, February 28, 2007

Its first website went online in 1994, and The PRS Group has launched its latest site this week. PRS' presence on the Internet evolved from one site into four over its first 13 years on the Web. Along with developing a new logo, PRS merged its four sites into one greatly enhanced and comprehensive website: www.PRSgroup.com

Country Data Wizard Is Back

The new website includes the popular CountryData Wizard, formerly found at www.CountryData.com. With this wizard, users pull data reports for many risk variables (e.g., corruption, economic risk, government stability, investment climate, military & religion in politics), selecting them country-by-country and month-by-month back to 1984. The new site also provides subscribers online access to publications from two key product lines, International Country Risk Guide and Political Risk Services, including Political Risk Yearbook.

Lots of Free Data

In addition to the company's extensive product list of publications, risk data files, and academic datasets, www.PRSgroup.com also offers a host of free data, including Country Fact Sheets and "Dynamic Data" – the Top Ten & Worst Ten countries in many categories of risk (currently external conflict).

Producing this complex new site would not have been possible without the technical expertise of Inalign, Inc. After having worked with web developers from Africa to London to Indiana, PRS was especially pleased to find such a highly qualified website developer located near their offices.

About The PRS Group, Inc.

Since 1979, PRS has supplied businesses, financial firms, governments, and universities in more than 100 countries with the country risk analysis needed to succeed in the international arena. PRS uses two unique risk rating methodologies: the Political Risk Services or Coplin-O'Leary System and the ICRG Rating System, both of which are detailed on the new website.
